MORGAN ASSAILANT LINKED TO SLAYER WHO FLED HARVARD AFTER KILLING WIFE

EVELYN THAW VANISHES HERE; IS LIKELY TO BE ARRESTED FOR REFUSING TO TESTIFY

In Contempt and State Will Ask Attachment Unless She Appears.

CALL COLLEGE FRIENDS.

Harvard Men Tell Incidents of Slayer's Violent Temper in Boston.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, hidden somewhere in New York City, is technically in contempt of the Supreme Court and unless she appears before Justice Hendrick this afternoon and satisfactorily explains her refusal to obey a subpoena to be present at 10:30 this morning Deputy Attorney General Cook declared this afternoon he would ask for a body attachment to arrest her as soon as she could be located.

Mrs. Thaw reached New York at 8:05 this morning from Chataquay Lake on the Montreal Express, and asserted she would not testify, but would stand on her "Constitutional Rights." She added that the State could not compel a wife to testify against her husband.

Mr. Cook had told her this was true in a criminal case, but as the present Thaw hearing is a civil proceeding she could not avail herself of her Constitutional right. He added that by her appearance as a witness against Thaw in White Plains in 1912 she had waived her right, anyway.

This, apparently, made no impression on Mrs. Thaw, for as soon as she left the train at the Grand Central this morning she purchased a ticket and parlor car accommodations back to Chataquay Lake on the train which leaves to-night at 9 o'clock. Then she disappeared.

TELLS REPORTERS SHE WILL NOT TESTIFY.

Mr. Cook tried during the entire forenoon and during the recess of the court to locate her. He called upon several hotels in which she has been a guest and sent a personal representative to her town house, No. 23 West Eleventh Street, but all efforts to locate her failed. Dr. Austin Flint,

INSULT TO U. S. FLAG, WILSON DENOUNCED?

London Report Says Banner Was Draped in Crepe by Berlin Society Which Hit at President.

LONDON, July 6.—The Evening News to-day printed a despatch from its Hague correspondent, who declared Americans in Berlin are indignant because the police did not prevent an insult to the American flag on July 4.

The News correspondent reported that a number of Germans, falsely representing themselves to be Americans, formed an organization styled the "World Society of Friends of Truth." They paraded with an American flag draped in crepe, the correspondent said, later depositing the flag at the foot of the statue of Frederick the Great in Unter den Linden. The society held a banquet in the evening, the correspondent reported, and passed resolutions denouncing President Wilson and protesting against the exportation of American manufacturers of munitions to the allies.

SEVEN MISSING AFTER CORDITE EXPLOSION

Victims of Crash at Plant Near Montreal Trapped by Flames—Ten Others Injured.

MONTREAL, July 6.—Seven men were missing and believed to be dead after a cordite explosion to-day at the plant of the Canadian Explosives Company at Beloeil, Que., about twenty-five miles from here. Ten persons were severely injured. Among the missing are Capt. Murray Wilson, manager of the cordite department of the company; Aylmer Brown of the du Pont Powder Works, Wilmington, Del., and J. Hammons, a British Government inspector.

After the explosion the plant caught fire and the flames hampered the rescuers. Special trains were ordered and as fast as the injured were taken from the ruins they were brought to this city and placed in hospitals here. A description of the accident was given by one of the women employed in the factory when she recovered consciousness. She said a chipping machine caused a spark to ignite the cordite. The explosion followed.

MEXICAN GUNS BOOM SALUTE TO AMERICANS

Honor to the Fourth at Vera Cruz Is Acknowledged by United States Warships.

GALVESTON, Tex., July 6.—In honor of American Independence Day a salute of twenty-one guns was fired yesterday at the naval academy in Vera Cruz, according to information reaching the Constitutionalist Consulate here to-day. The American gunboats Sacramento and Wheeling returned the salute. Gov. Aguilar and his staff paid a visit to Consuls Sullivan and Canada at the American Consulate.

BECKER BELIEVES HE WILL DIE AND HE IS PREPARED

Spiritual Adviser Says Condemned Man Has No Hope in U. S. Court.

PROBE SULLIVAN DEATH

"John Doe" Hearings May Follow Prisoner's Claim "Big Tim" Was Murdered.

Despite a desperate eleventh-hour fight to save him, ex-Police Lieut. Charles Becker, condemned for complicity in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, believes he is doomed, and he is prepared for death in the electric chair in Sing Sing during the week of July 26.

The Rev. Father James F. Curry, rector of St. James' Church, who saw Becker often in the Tombs and who visits him weekly in Sing Sing's death house, said to-day:

"Becker is ready to die. He believes he will die. He has lost all hope. He is prepared for death—and he is innocent. I believe that. No man could look into his eyes as I have, in a condemned murderer's cell, and believe he is guilty."

The hope of saving Becker by starting a John Doe inquiry into the mysterious death of "Big Tim" Sullivan may not come to much. The closest friends of the late Timothy D. Sullivan declared to-day that such an inquiry would be utterly useless, because there was no friendship nor any business tie between Mr. Sullivan and Rosenthal.

SAY BECKER HAD TO PROTECT ROSENTHAL.

It is said by Becker's friends that Rosenthal owed "Big Tim" a large amount of money; that "Big Tim," therefore, gave orders to Lieut. Becker, in charge of the raiding squad that harried the gamblers, not to molest Rosenthal, at least until he had paid his debt, and that, therefore, Becker could not have been willing to let Rosenthal be killed. They say nothing about the fact that Becker, under direct orders from Police Commissioner Waldo, raided Rosenthal's gambling rooms and smashed the furniture.

It can be stated positively that District Attorney Perkins will not now order any "John Doe" inquiry about the death of Sullivan because Assistant District Attorney Groehl made a searching investigation into the circumstances of the death and found not one suspicious circumstance. There was nothing to suggest that Sullivan was murdered. Nor is there anything to prove that the murdered gambler owed him a penny.

William B. Ellison was attorney for the committee of Timothy D. Sullivan's person and estate for more than a year before he died. He is now receiver of the estate.

"Among all the effects of the late Senator Sullivan," said Mr. Ellison, "there is not one scintilla of evidence that Rosenthal was indebted to him in any way. There is nothing to show that they ever had any dealings."

An intimate friend of Sullivan said that Rosenthal's death had nothing to do with "Big Tim's" death.

"The Senator," he said, "was in bad health for a long time, and when his wife died, in September, 1912, he was overcome. He fell unconscious at her grave. He went voluntarily to Dr. Bond's sanatorium at Yonkers, and in April, 1913, went over to live

BOMB FOR POLICE LAID TO FULFIL THREATS OF 'REDS'

Blow-Up at Headquarters Meant as "Protest," Detectives Believe.

NO CLUE TO THE MAKER.

Man Who Placed It Evidently Spared Lives of Policemen Inside.

Little doubt exists that the bomb which exploded last night against a door on the ground floor of the Centre Street side of Police Headquarters was placed there by anarchists as a "protest." There are other circumstances to support this besides the fact that the explosion occurred on the anniversary of the death of Arthur Caron and three other anarchists, one a woman, who were blown to bits by the premature explosion of a bomb Caron was making in a tenement house at 1627 Lexington Avenue.

At the time of the arrest of Abarno and Carbone, who made and placed a bomb in St. Patrick's Cathedral, letters were received at Headquarters stating that the building would be blown up. Threats to dynamite Police Headquarters were also made in anarchist meetings.

The bomb exploded last night was powerful enough to have destroyed life, but apparently the man who placed it did not have designs upon the lives of policemen. He could have thrown the bomb through any one of a number of open windows into rooms occupied by detectives and policemen. Instead he placed it outside the building against a door which is seldom used and is flanked by store rooms.

BOMB OF TYPICAL ANARCHIST MAKE.

Inspector Owen Egan says the bomb was of typical anarchist manufacture. There isn't the slightest clue to the man or men who made it or placed it. Workmen were kept busy most of the day in cleaning up debris in Headquarters and replacing broken window panes in the neighborhood.

When the explosion occurred a crowded Madison and Fourth Avenue car was rounding the curve from Centre Street into Grand Street. Its forward truck was lifted from the rails and a panic among the passengers took place.

In the excitement that followed the terrific detonation, detectives and policemen ran through the neighborhood with drawn revolvers. Five suspects were gathered in. Four were released a few hours afterward and the fifth, John Koas, a young Austrian, who said he was homeless, was charged with vagrancy.

Within five minutes after the explosion a crowd of two thousand people had gathered around the Headquarters building. Commissioner Woods hurried to New York from Westbury, L. I., and found Inspectors Fairout and Egan at work in the wreckage. The shaken door in front of which the bomb was left is directly under a room where prisoners are arraigned. Edward F. McNally was on duty at the Lieutenant's desk at the time.

A smaller desk to the right sat Policeman Joseph Evans. Further toward the Grand Street side are the offices of Inspectors Fairout and Cray.

Inspector Egan declared to-day that the bomb consisted of two sticks of dynamite placed in a section of iron or lead pipe, which was loaded with slugs of brass and iron, and it was set off by a slow fuse. The bomb ex-

Evelyn Thaw Who Doesn't Want To Testify Against Her Husband

HOSPITAL SHIP SUNK BY BRITISH WITH 700 ABOARD, SAY TURKS

No Warning, It Is Charged, Is Given of Attacks by Submarines.

BERLIN, via wireless to Sayville, L. I., July 6.—Charges that British submarines and torpedo boats have sunk unarmed passenger ships in Turkish waters without warning were contained in an official statement from the Admiralty to-day. Among the ships torpedoed, it was stated, was a hospital ship with 700 wounded aboard.

"While England condemns submarine warfare within a specified war zone as barbaric, cruel and a murderous practice violating international law, she uses the same methods in other parts of the globe not specified as war zones," the Admiralty declared.

TEN BRIDES-TO-BE HERE FROM SWEDEN

Rush From Ship Into Arms of Stalwart Youths to Mix Kisses With Roses.

Ten blushing and buxom brides-to-be arrived from Sweden to-day on the Norwegian-American liner United States. "Ten husky Swedish young men with roses in their coats were at the pier to meet them. Ten gallant Customs men went through ten big trunks and ten inquiring heads were turned the other way by ten soft periwinkle hands. Then twenty palpitating hearts beat as ten as the happy ones started up the pier.

Among other passengers on the United States was Inga Sontum, a dancer of Norway. She comes from Christiania and is going to Newport to teach society the dance of Danes.

BRITISH ON AIR RAID TO THE GERMAN COAST FORCED TO RETREAT

Hydroaeroplanes and Aeroplanes Were Accompanied by Cruisers and Destroyers.

BERLIN (via wireless to Sayville, L. I.), July 6.—British aviators who attempted a great aerial raid on the German North Sea coast Sunday morning were routed by German airmen, it was officially announced here to-day.

German airships sighted the British sky flotilla off Terschelling at dawn. It consisted of several hydroaeroplanes and aeroplanes, accompanied by motor boats, cruisers and destroyers.

"The hostile airmen were forced to retreat," said the official statement. "One British hydroaeroplane which succeeded in arising toward the coast was pursued by German aeroplanes and escaped by flying over Dutch territory."

Raid by German aviators on the French aeroplane training camp at Corbueil, east of Epinal, and on the aviation grounds at Breilfirst, in the Vosges, were reported by the War Office this afternoon. The result of the bombardments is not known.

PRISONER SECONDS MOTION.

It Being Daily Moved, Judge Orders Jury to Acquit.

Lawyer Michael Delagi of No. 114 Centre Street was assigned to-day by Judge Malone in General Sessions to defend a negro accused of attempted robbery. The prosecution made no case out against the negro. Mr. Delagi, addressing Judge Malone, said:

"I move that the jury be directed to acquit."

"I second the motion!" yelled the defendant.

Amid the laughter of the spectators Judge Malone granted Mr. Delagi's motion.

"He had to do it," exclaimed the negro. "It was regularly moved and seconded."

HOLT TRIES SUICIDE AS CLOSE RESEMBLANCE TO MUENTER IS SHOWN

Marks on Prisoner's Body Like Those Prof. Muentner Had—Harvard Employee Sees Close Likeness Even in Swollen Features.

MORGAN STILL IMPROVING; PLANS TO TAKE SEA TRIP

Cumulative evidence that Frank Holt, who tried to kill J. P. Morgan and attempted to blow up the Capitol in Washington, is Prof. Erich Muentner, of Harvard, the wife murderer and fugitive from justice, continued to reach the Nassau County authorities to-day and they are now virtually satisfied that the two men are the same.

When told Sunday that he was suspected of being Muentner Holt showed great agitation. Yesterday when an attempt was made to get him to tell something about himself prior to 1906—the year in which Muentner disappeared after his wife died from poison in Cambridge, Mass.—Holt lost his temper and refused to answer any questions.

He was told that persons who used to know Prof. Muentner would look him over to-day and try to identify him.

With the prospect before him of facing persons who knew Muentner Holt tried to kill himself in his cell in the Mineola Jail early to-day. He tried to sever the arteries of his left wrist with a weapon fashioned from the tin on a lead pencil and probably would have succeeded in destroying himself but for the alertness of the jail keeper.

A man who knew Muentner well and came from Boston to-day to see Holt in jail said he would not swear that the two men are the same person, but that the resemblance is remarkable.

Prof. Hans Von Jagerman of Harvard, who taught Muentner for two years, said to-day that the resemblance between the photographs of Holt and the features of Muentner as he remembers them is striking.

Handwriting comparisons also favor the theory that Holt is Prof. Muentner.

CHARLES A. CONANT IS DEAD IN HAVANA

Financial Expert Was There to Reform Cuba's Monetary System.

Charles A. Conant of New York, banker and financial expert, died in Havana Sunday night of hemorrhage of the stomach, it was announced to-day.

He was in Cuba at the request of the Cuban authorities to reform the financial system of the republic.

Mr. Conant described himself as "an expert on monetary systems." He began his career as a financial writer for newspapers and for many years was connected with the New York Journal of Commerce. Later he turned his theory to practice and became secretary of the Morton Trust Company, now merged into the Guaranty Trust Company.

As an expert he went to the Philippines to work out a monetary system adaptable to those islands. Nicaragua called him to devise her monetary system and other Central and South American countries sought his advice.

Mr. Conant was fifty-four years old and never had married.

Dania's Cotton Cargo Condemned.

LONDON, July 6.—The steamship Dania's cotton cargo has been condemned and will be sold at Havre on July 27.

Despatches from Chicago and from the Cambridge police stated that Muentner underwent an operation for a chronic affliction in 1905 and that unmistakable scars from this operation are still on his body if he is alive. Dr. Guy Claghorn of Monaca made a physical examination of Holt at the direction of the District Attorney of Nassau County this afternoon and found on his body scars identical with those described as resulting from the operation on Muentner. Dr. Claghorn did not question Holt about the scars.

Holt's features are so battered and his real appearance is so altered by a bandage he wears around the cuts on his head inflicted at the Morgan house that any positive identification cannot be made at this time. One of the marks of his attack on Mr. Morgan is a black eye, which gives his face a most sinister appearance.

Scores of persons who knew Muentner have volunteered to come here and look at Holt and some of them will be summoned as soon as Holt's face resumes its normal cast.

TRIED TO SEVER ARTERY AT WRIST.

In his suicidal effort Holt showed characteristic cunning. In anticipation of such an attempt everything possible by which self destruction might be accomplished had been removed from his cell, even to his belt.

He was unable to sleep the greater part of the night, and early to-day asked for a pencil and paper, saying he wanted to write to his wife. He asked that the pencil be equipped with an eraser.

The pencil and paper were fur-
